She cannot explain letters she received in 1967 telling her that he had died. He returned to Detroit only to discover she had moved. Police helped him locate her in Kalamazoo.

Friday Worst For Crashes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Your chances of being involved in a traffic accident are greatest between the hours of three and six on a Friday afternoon.

The odds you will be involved in a fatal accident are greatest between midnight and 3 a.m. on a Saturday or Sunday.

These statistics come from the final report on Ohio traffic accidents in 1968 by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

The report showed that two of every three accidents occur in a city but that two of every three fatal accidents take place on rural roads.

Tragic Error Proves Fatal To Policeman

Vandalia Officer Fatally Shot By U.S. Agent

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Vandalia police Lt. James Bohanan skipped a briefing before a raid on an alleged counterfeiting operation Tuesday to compete in the police department's annual shooting competition.

Missing the briefing apparently cost him his life.

He won the shooting match and then went to a motel between Dayton and Vandalia where the raid was to take place.

A short time later he was slain by a secret service agent during a gunfight. Authorities said the agent did not know Bohanan was a policeman because he had not seen him at the briefing.

An eyewitness said Bohanan arrived at the motel in plainclothes, drew his gun and rushed upstairs when he heard gunfire. The secret service agent, who was not identified, ordered him to halt.

Bohanan did not obey the order and the agent shot him. The agent said Bohanan plunged down a flight of stairs and crouched at the bottom. The agent fired again, killing him.

Montgomery County Sheriff Bernard L. Keiter said the raid was set up to two of his deputies who arranged to buy $260,000 worth of phony $20 bills from the counterfeiters for $15,000.

The two men in the motel room obviously were tipped about the raid, Keiter said, because they opened fire on his men and the secret service agents when they arrived.

Two men in the room, Andrew K. Hoscher, 28, and J. Alfred Beatty, 45, both of Dayton, were wounded. Hoscher seriously. Two other suspects in the counterfeiting ring were not in the room at the time but were arrested a short time later by Dayton police.

They were not identified.

Bohanan, 40, was married and the father of two.

Krabach Plans To Ask Tax Hike

CINCINNATI (AP) — City council today received City Manager Richard L. Krabach's proposal to resubmit an increase in the municipal income tax to the voters to solve a $4.8 million deficit, provide raises for police and firemen and head off a proposed strike by 2,000 city employees.

Voters here rejected a one per cent increase in the tax in November, 1968. Krabach proposed a 4 per cent increase in 1970 and another 1 per cent increase in 1971 for a total of 5 per cent. It was half what the city was expected to ask, Krabach said.

Ohio law requires voter approval to increase municipal earnings taxes higher than one per cent.

A $700,000 nursing home. Other local area businesses and industries continued to prosper marred only by brief employment problems and mini-brief periods of slack sales.

As the year ends, Circleville's city income tax observes a birthday. Benefits of the tax imposed last January are noticeable and for the most part the one-half of one per cent wasn't missed by most taxpayers. The year also brought toll free service between Circleville and Ashville subscribers to General Telephone service. Voting machines were introduced to county electors for the first time and the Pickaway County Chapter of the YMCA secured headquarters for its operations in the old Armory on E. Franklin St.

VA And FHA Interest Rates Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maximum interest rates allowed on government-insured FHA and VA home loans will be boosted for the second time within a year, becoming a record 8½ per cent as of next Monday.

Secretary of Housing George Romney said Tuesday he was reluctantly approving the increase from the current 7½ per cent maximum which has been in effect only since last Jan. 24.

The announcement was bad news for prospective home buyers who had hoped to see a stabilizing or reduction of interest rates which have been spiraling since early in 1966 when the limit was 5½ per cent for the loans backed by the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration.

Romney said he had delayed as long as possible but he was forced to take the action to "help hold the line against a further drying up of mortgage funds from regular sources."

He noted that market yields on most types of investments have gone up more than one percentage point in the past year and that lenders are demanding higher and higher discount points to make FHA-VA loans.

Lenders have been charging 7 to 9 per cent—or points—to make loans. Most of this usually is paid by the seller, but in effect may be passed on to the buyer in the form of a higher house price.

The one per cent boost in the interest ceiling—the largest increase ever—was applauded by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America and was condemned by the National Association of Home Builders.

"Housing is in a state of crisis, and today's government action to increase the FHA-VA mortgage interest ceiling to 8½ per cent is a substantial move to improve the situation," said Robert H. Pease, president of the mortgage bankers.

Louis R. Barba, acting president of the home builders group, issued a statement declaring the time has come for the administration to put into effect standby credit controls recently authorized by Congress.

"Current high interest rates have not visibly succeeded in curbing inflation but, on the contrary, seem to increase inflationary pressures by their contribution to higher costs," Barba said.

He said the Federal Reserve Board should act to ease money pressures.

Pease noted that the 8½ per cent rate would be illegal in at least six states—Indiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, South Dakota and Virginia—and the District of Columbia. He said these states could face a serious housing crisis unless their legislature raises the current interest limits.

The new maximum rates will have no effect on the 8.2 million loans which have been made in the past, but they will result in higher monthly payments for persons getting FHA-VA new loans after Jan. 5.

Abrams Suffers From Pneumonia

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, is suffering from pneumonia but is "making quite progressive improvement," Army medical authorities said today.

Abrams, who is 55, was taken to the Army's 3rd Field Hospital outside Saigon Sunday, and the doctors diagnosed his ailment as pleurisy.

Today his doctors said chest pains he initially experienced have disappeared. They said he is not confined to bed but will have to stay in the hospital a few more days.

Winners Named In Christmas Lighting Contest

Christmas decorations of Circleville homes were both numerous and exceptionally beautiful this year, according to a Chamber of Commerce spokesman.

The six judges assigned the task of selecting a winner for each of the four categories in the Christmas Home Decorating Contest remarked that many homes were beautifully decorated but were not entered in competition.

All first place winners of the contest, sponsored annually by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, will receive $15; second place, $10; and third, $5.

This year, all first place winners will also receive a plaque to be presented by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. which will be engraved with the winner's name and class category.

A point system was used for judging based on design, color coordination, effectiveness of lighting, unity of theme and originality.

Results of the Tuesday night judging and a list of the 1969 winners are as follows:

End Of Decade Nears; 1969 A Year Of Happenings

By BETTY DAWLEY
Herald Staff Writer

At midnight, 1969 will take its place in history and with its passing another decade will also be tucked away for man to ponder its merits and misfortunes.

For Pickaway Countians as well as people around the globe, 1969 will be a memorable year. It will hold fond memories for some, sad recollections for others.

While reflecting on 1969, happenings around the home and to the family are recalled first by most Pickaway Countians.

But other 1969 happenings effected every area resident. Happenings that made the news, and felt by Pickaway Countians, ranged from local incidents to national and international problems and negotiations.

1969 WAS not without its mark of tragedy. Many Pickaway Countians lost loved ones. Several young men were killed serving their country in the Vietnam War. Others suffered personal injury from various sources, but life goes on and as a new year approaches it will be met with the same challenge as its predecessors.

The economic picture for Pickaway County in 1969 was a progressive one. RCA broke ground this fall for a new $19 million manufacturing plant. Efforts of many dedicated citizens paid off and an airport for Pickaway County is to become a reality. A local private corporation announced plans and began construction of a $700,000 nursing home. Other local area businesses and industries continued to prosper marred only by brief employment problems and mini-brief periods of slack sales.

As the year ends, Circleville's city income tax observes a birthday. Benefits of the tax imposed last January are noticeable and for the most part the one-half of one per cent wasn't missed by most taxpayers. The year also brought toll free service between Circleville and Ashville subscribers to General Telephone service. Voting machines were introduced to county electors for the first time and the Pickaway County Chapter of the YMCA secured headquarters for its operations in the old Armory on E. Franklin St.

For the most part 1969 was typical of the 60s. Mankind continued its progression in the sciences and endeavored to make the world a better place to live. At the same time conflicts and struggles for power tore at the hearts of individuals as well as nations, but was offset by the unselfish thousands dedicated to world peace.

Following are a few of the Circleville and Pickaway County events that played a major part in the annals of 1969.

JANUARY

Circleville City Council passed an ordinance appropriating $34,500 to establish the income tax department for collection of the newly-imposed city income tax.

Jaycees named James Hastings of Muhlenberg Twp. as Outstanding Young Farmer for Pickaway County; Donald Metzler, elementary supervisor of Circleville City Schools as Young Educator of Pickaway County; and Wayne Smith supervisor of employee and community relations at GE, Outstanding Young Man of Pickaway County.

Pickaway County Commissioners approved a budget of $2,091,636.80 for 1969, more than $100,000 over the 1968 budget.

Dr. Ellis E. Snyder, professor emeritus at Capital University Conservatory of Music and a Circleville native, died at his home in Columbus.

County commissioners secured an option on the Jackson Twp. Miller farm as a proposed site for a sanitary landfill.

Dr. W. L. Sprouse was elected president of the Pickaway County Historical Society, succeeding Rex E. Haacker who held the post for three years.

County Commissioners named a five-man airport authority consisting of John Dunlap Jr., Robert M. Johnson, John Stevenson, Frank Bowling Jr. and Keith Wagner for the purpose of promoting industrial and economic growth in Pickaway County.

Glenn G. McCoy, Route 3, was reelected president of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society for a third term.

Mrs. E. R. (Jerry) Bennett resigned as Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce manager, a position she had held since 1961.

Nancy Benzenberg, CHS senior, was awarded the La Sertoma Club's Youth Service Award.

County commissioners abandoned the Jackson Twp. Miller farm as a proposed sanitary landfill site.

Over two inches of rain fell in an 8-hour period Jan. 29-30 with springlike temperatures in the 50s.

FEBRUARY

The trial of Thomas Creachbaum, 32, of Route 2, Greenfield, charged with a check swindle involving more than $1 million, got underway in Pickaway County Common Pleas Courtroom.

The Ohio National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St. was leased by Pickaway County YMCA Chapter as headquarters for local "Y" programs and offices.

Mrs. Allen (Jean) Ankrom was employed as manager of Circleville Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of (Continued on Page 11)

5 Gunboats Near Israel From France

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — The five mystery gunboats from France near Israel's shores today, and an oil company spokesman indicated their mission would be to supply and defend an Israeli-American oil drilling operation off the Israeli coast.

A spokesman for the Metivie Mext Co. said the speedy, 147-foot craft would arrive late in the afternoon (10 a.m. EST) and newsmen could question some of the officers and a company representative at a news conference.

The gunboats had been slowed by gale winds in the eastern Mediterranean, but the winds calmed at dawn.

The boats slipped out of Cherbourg harbor at 3 a.m. Christmas morning, evading the French government's embargo on arms to Israel. They were part of a flotilla of 12 built for Israel, but the other seven were delivered before the embargo was clamped on last January.

The French government said the boats had been sold to a Norwegian company for offshore oil drilling operations. It asserted the departure of the boats, manned by Israeli crews, was a complete surprise. But newsmen investigating in Cherbourg found strong indications that a number of high French officials knew in advance that the boats would be leaving and did nothing to stop them.

Authoritative political sources in Jerusalem said Foreign Minister Abba Eban told French Ambassador Francois Hure at a meeting Monday that the boats would be used for civilian purposes.

Men Steal News Data On Dead Star

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland librarians are wondering who got all the Marilyn Monroe photographs and clippings and if they'll ever see them again.

It seems that in all some 200 photographs are missing from newspaper libraries and the main public library.

The Plain Dealer, the Press, the Newspaper Enterprise Association and the public library report their MM picture files completely wiped out.

Most of the clippings are gone, too, except that the Press saved its clippings because its electro - mechanical files are hard for outsiders to get into.

The librarians say the thefts were believed to have taken place around October. Two young men apparently visited each of the libraries about the time the files disappeared.

The librarians have been watching for the pair to return to the scenes of their alleged pilfering, but they never showed up.

An NEA employee said the two came in "for something else — some kind of homework assignment," they said. After they left the whole folder was gone.

The Plain Dealer said three 1954 photographs escaped the clutches of the thieves. The reason: the pictures were misfiled.

Vending Machine Vandalism Reported

Gordon W. Rule, director of Navy procurement control, told the House-Senate subcommittee on economy Tuesday that shipbuilders have filed more than $1 billion in claims against the Navy — some of them "with no merit at all" — in hopes that they can win at least part of the money through negotiations.

Rule said Moorer wrote the Naval Materiel Command last March that the basing of contractor claims on such alleged cost-boosting Navy actions as last-minute contract changes must be corrected.

Moorer added: "We must take action now or ultimately lose our entire Navy."

Moorer's letter did not elaborate and neither did Rule. The contractor claims have been cited by other Navy officials as a sizable part of the shipbuilding program's estimated $850 million to $1.2 billion cost overruns.

Vietnam Truce Under Way After 200 Reds Are Slain

SAIGON (AP) — American and South Vietnamese forces suspended combat operations Wednesday night for a 24-hour New Year's truce after reporting more than 200 enemy killed during the previous hours of the Viet Cong's unilateral ceasefire. It was one of the highest enemy death tolls in more than a month.

The 72-hour Viet Cong ceasefire began at 1 a.m. Tuesday and the allied truce at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

South Vietnamese headquarters said it had halted 50 offensive operations of battalion size or larger.

The U.S. Command said all planned air and artillery strikes across South Vietnam were suspended, but reconnaissance patrols continued to check on enemy troops building up for a possible attack after the ceasefire.

"All measures will be taken to insure security of our troops and installations," a spokesman said, presumably meaning that air and artillery support would be used if deemed necessary.

The allies reported killing 203 enemy soldiers in more than a dozen engagements Tuesday and Wednesday.

The U.S. Command said two Americans were killed and three wounded. All the casualties but one wounded were helicopter crewmen. On helicopter was shot down and destroyed and two others were damaged.

Art Woods, safety director of the Northway Taxi Co. and its subsidiary, the Arlington-Grandview Red & White Cab Co., said the combined fleet of 74 cabs will be available from midnight until 2:30 a.m.

Woods said the only conditions for the free ride are that the customer in need surrender his car keys and direct the driver to his home — with no stops at bars along the way.

Marching Forward

As the old year dies faith and hope for the new are born. Hope is an essential part of living. It is the sum of the best that we expect from all our tomorrows.

Without hope, the landscape of the future is a dreary wasteland in which all action ends in sterility and life itself perishes. This mankind has never been able to accept and has always made hope the springboard of action in defiance of gloomy philosophers.

And if this instinct springs perpetually from the center of man's being in apparent defiance of logic, experience and the forebodings of old and tired poets, is it not one of the wonders of creation? But without action—the will to perform deeds—hope remains frail, negative and without protest.

And so, as we pass into the new year, we respond anew to the revitalizing touch of hope and the belief that with action we can make our tomorrows better than our yesterdays.

Inflation Unchecked

Inflation continues unabated, according to the government's cost-of-living index for November, which shows prices advanced one-half of 1 percent, or at an annual rate of 6 percent. Such a rate of increase has been termed unacceptable by government officials in discussing inflation.

What this latest statistic seems to indicate is that the administration has made no progress in fighting inflation. Of course, the groundwork may have been accomplished, in which case the price trend should show a downturn in two or three months.

According To Boyle

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN (For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (AP) — Does London swing? Really swing?

Ever since BOAC, the state-owned airline, had to scuttle its swiftness flaps because of a frightful flap in Parliament, the tourist guides and bobbies on the boat have been understandably evasive of the question.

"London Swing" Come off it. Why you can't get a meal in this town after midnight . . . It's duller than Aberdeen," ventured Moira McKenna, from Aberdeen, who does the bossa nova, nude, while accompanying herself with twin bull whips at Soho's Nell Gwynne Club.

The silver haired gentleman dozing beneath his copy of the Times in one of the high ceilinged windows of an exclusive Pall Mall Club had the contrary opinion.

"Jolly right, it swings. You'd blow your mind at some of the carrying on around here: pot, mate swapping, group-ins—the lot. Some of the chaps can hardly wait till midnight to nip over to the chemists for the next day's fix. On the National Health, you know."

Even the visible evidence is conflicting.

See the King's Road in Campy

Chelsea at high noon any Saturday. The dolly birds in their micro-minis or kinky crocheted slacks sauntering forth arm in arm with the long haired lads in the owl spectacles, long Edwardian frock coats and Al Capone fedoras.

For another view, see the bar-risters (or are they solicitors?) alighting from the underground at Temple Bar in their bowler hats, furred broties and striped pants. Or pop along to Kensington Park and see the nannies pushing their prams in sturdy tweeds and sensible shoes.

Reassuring wot? Then you learn there is more here than meets the eye.

Th chaps in the bowler hats, so the theater managers say, often outnumber the hippies on queues outside "Pajama Tops." "Hair" and the "X" films, the gamey ones where nothing is left to the imagination except the dialogue, which is in Swedish.

London swing?

The architecture is grey and depressing: the weather frequently frightful: fog, rains, bone rattling chills. Queues form for buses and movies. The great London pubs, those last bastions of communal bonhomie, suffer under the 11 p.m. tyranny of "time, gentlemen," with certain occupational exceptions. One can get a drink, late at night, in Covent Garden dressed as a truck driver, or, early in the morning, in Smithfield Market. In the land of Twiggys and the Beatles and the maxi-mini, ballroom dancing is still a most popular pastime.

But the ads and the placards in the underground promise "pregnancy testing." "His and hers matching undies." "Unisex barber shop and beauty parlor."

London swing?

The morning tabloids recently interviewed a bevy of British actresses who professed to have no qualms about performing the sex act on stage "if it validly fitted in with the plot," and the BBC trying to mod up its staid old image, is about to launch a series of sex education programs for 9-year-olds.

London swing?

As Samuel Johnson, that mod old Londoner, said just before the Cheshire Cheese shut down for the night under the licensing laws, whoever is tired of London is tired of life.

"Look, whatever it is, can't it wait till morning?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A CONFIRMED stuttermen spotted a parrot in a pet shop, the proprietor and inquired, "C-c-can this b-b-bird t-t-talk?" "Mister," the proprietor assured him earnestly, "if that parrot couldn't talk better than you do, I'd cut his durn head off."

A distinguished, elderly senator, visiting a hospital in Vietnam, was escorted by a new Navy nurse, eager, beautiful, and proud of her just-acquired ensign's bars. As the two of them passed through a wardroom full of tough, wounded Marines, a chorus of jocular wolf calls resounded through the corridor. "Goodness," exclaimed the flustered nurse. "Do you suppose those boys are whistling at ME?" The senator chuckled and answered, "I hope so, Missy. I certainly hope so!"

OVERHEARD: Ambitious young employee to bank president: "I would like to marry your daughter—provided, of course, you've got one." Weather forecaster to his wife: "There's an eighty-five-percent chance that I won't get home in time for dinner tonight, my chickadee." Wife to canasta companion: "I've got the most marvelous new recipe for meat loaf! All I have to do is mention it to my husband and he says, 'Let's eat out.'"

Workers Shun Boycott

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Belfast, Northern Ireland: As the government of North Ireland, moving to the center, develops its program of universalized civil liberties and "jobs and houses for all," the word "backlash" begins to be heard in local parliamentary circles. The heavily dominant Unionist Party, long condemned by Bernadette Devlin and her young university radicals for pro-British conservatism, has suddenly become afraid of the extreme Right, many of whom are inclined to listen to the demagogic Reverend Ian Paisley. The North Irish Prime Minister, Major James Dawson Chichester-Clark, finds himself in Richard Nixon's shoes, worrying more about the local George Wallace than about Miss Devlin, who now seems like little more than a glorified Students for a Democratic Society type of character.

This is not the way Miss Devlin sees it, of course. In her romantic and no doubt sincere imagination, she looks forward to a new all-Ireland socialist party to be composed of both Protestant and Catholic workers who will try to bring the "revolution" to Dublin as well as Belfast. She dramatizes herself as part of a world generational uprising. Her difficulty is that the trades union "proletariat," in Ireland no less than in George Meany's and Walter Reuther's America, is not in a hell-raising frame of mind. It is only the students, and their anarchist allies in a slightly older stratum, who are mad for overturning society. They have had the support of the civil rights people and the unemployed and some of the old-time rabid Nationalists in the recent "troubles," but the big united front of the demonstrators has been for short-term objectives which are now in sight of realization.

One thing which the other world seems to have overlooked during the 1969 rioting in Belfast and Londonderry is the fact that the rank-and-file members of the employed "proletariat" were not having any part of the rebellion. The Catholics among the employed trades unionists were suddenly "tame Catholics," or "Stormont Catholics," to use the words which local Leftists toss around with the scornful abandon of American Black Panthers exclaiming the "Uncle Toms." And the Protestant trades unionists must also have seemed tame to the Reverend Paisley, whose extreme Right Wing followers took to the streets to fight Miss Devlin and the so-called Peoples' Democracy.

The two biggest employers of labor in the Belfast area are the great shipbuilding firm of Harland and Wolff, which happens to be twenty-five-per-cent owned by the Greek millionaire Aristotle Onassis, and Short Brothers and Harland Limited, a company which makes the Skyvan, an increasingly popular "Stol" (or short-take-off-and-landing) plane that is now proving useful as both a passenger and cargo mover in such offbeat places as the oil-rich North Slope of Alaska. Harland and Wolff, which is about to build two 260,000-ton oil tankers for Onassis (to be christened by his wife, the former Jackie Kennedy?), has a labor force of 9,000, while Short Brothers and Harland currently keeps 5,000 Belfast citizens at work. It is the shipyard and aircraft workers who give Belfast its atmosphere of sober and solid prosperity. And their recent behavior makes both the Left Wing socialist revolution and a Right Wing anti-Pope crusade seem equally remote.

While petrol bombs and stones were being thrown in North Ireland last August, the chief of the Harland and Wolff shop stewards, Alex—or "Sandy" Scott, called a lunch-time meeting of 4,000 men in the shadow of the giant Krupp crane which looms over a half-finished 250,000-ton Esso tanker. The men, who know they must be productive workers if they are to continue to compete in tanker building with the Japanese, voted to maintain the peace. Catholics and Protestants made common cause in passing a resolution calling on "all responsible people to join with the shipyard in giving a lead to break the cycle of mutual re-creation." The aircraft workers at the Short Brothers factories also opted for peace. At four o'clock of a Friday afternoon there was a "token stoppage," but it was only to pray for calm and order elsewhere in Belfast and the rest of North Ireland.

Old-timers couldn't believe it. They recalled the days of the Thirties when the shipyard workers were first in line to engage in any religious war-ding-dong. In the old days, when the "troubles" came, shipyard workers made their dissenting comrades run a gauntlet of flying nuts, bolts and metal scrap. Catholic crossed Protestant from gantries craned into the harbor; Protestants belabored Catholics with heavy wrenches. This was the North Irish way. Both the Communists and the zealots of the Irish Republican Army loved it.

But the "proletariat" has learned. Bernadette Devlin will surely have a hard time recruiting for her North-South "workers' republic" revolution among the shipyard and aircraft workers, and if the Reverend Paisley thinks he can enlist the employed Protestant laborer in his extreme anti-Pope crusade he has missed the current trades unionist temper.

Ohio Soldier Denied Writ

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Army Pvt. Thomas L. Poling of Van Wert was back in Army custody today after U. S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary Monday denied him a writ of mandamus.

Poling had been called to active duty after failing to remain in an organized reserve unit. He claimed he had been denied full credit for service because of his long hair which he felt entitled to wear as a musician.

He filed the mandamus action to halt action by Army authorities who claimed he was absent without official leave.

Army authorities said at a recent hearing that Poling had been given 60 days to join a California reserve unit when he told reserve officials here he was moving last May. When he did not report he was activated for duty.

Poling had been in the Columbus Workhouse since Nov. 5 but had been permitted to spend Christmas at home.

President Signs Mine Safety Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed the federal coal mine health and safety bill today but said its provision for federal workmen's compensation "in no way should be considered a precedent."

One provision of the bill is to provide federal payments for a time to miners disabled by respiratory ailments—a type of workmen's compensation not covered by most state laws.

In a statement, the President noted that one of his earliest recommendations was in the area of coal mine health and safety but said, on signing the bill, "I do have reservations about certain serious issues raised by the act."

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Decade Of '60s Bruising To The Spirit

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

Had we known in advance what the '60s would be like, we might have tried skipping them. It was an exhausting decade for the spirit, shot alternately to extremes of hope and gloom at an ever-faster tempo: A president proclaimed a New Frontier, a president was murdered, the Vatican pressed for Christian unity, the Vietnam war grew bloodier.

The economy promised prosperity, inflation swelled, Detroit burned, men walked the moon.

From a Cold War start that seems placid in retrospect, the '60s aroused passions that intensified with age. Negroes sat, marched, shouted and fought for equality and pride. An anti-war campaign grew until it could rouse more than a million Americans to rally one October day. A countermovement generated equal heat.

And running through all that were pressures from the nation's youth.

"Generation Gap" was coined to characterize, inadequately, what was happening between young and not-so-young. "Don't trust anybody over 30," was a prime slogan of a slogan-peppered period.

The events marched into history in the time it took for a seed to become this year's mid-sized Christmas tree.

Remember 1960?
Francis Gary Powers' skin-winged U2 was shot out of the sky over the Soviet Union.

Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet premier, visited the United Nations in New York and banged his shoe on the table. "We will bury you," he told us. Four years later he was ousted from the Kremlin.

Methodists Consolidate 4 Councils

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — United Methodist Bishop F. Gerald Ensley has announced a consolidation of the four program councils within the Ohio West Area of the church effective Jan. 1.

It anticipates merger of the four conferences under his jurisdiction into a single one next June.

Bishop Ensley said the consolidation combines councils of the three former Evangelical United Brethren Conferences — Ohio Miami at Dayton, Ohio Sandusky at Findlay and Ohio Southwest at Findlay and Ohio Southwest at Columbus — with the former Methodist Ohio Conference in Columbus.

Newest feature of the consolidation, he said, is establishment of three regional bases, each staffed with a director who will act as a consultant to Councils of Ministries, the program — planning body in each local church.

He announced the regional directors as: The Rev. Mr. W. Owen Delp of Dayton, Northwest Region; The Rev. Mr. Charles C. Messmer, Germantown, Southwest Region; and The Rev. Mr. Rex C. Smith of Logan, Southeast Region.

All three have been program council directors, Delp and Messmer in the Ohio Miami Conference and Smith in the Southeast Conference.

At the same time Bishop Ensley created the office of associate director in Columbus and appointed The Rev. Mr. John F. Osborn to the post. Osborn has been program director of the Ohio Sandusky Conference.

The Columbus office will be headed by the Rev. Dr. Austin R. Whitmore who has been director of the Ohio Conference Program Council. The Rev. Mr. John C. Wagner will be assistant director.

The new West Ohio Conference will comprise more than 1500 local churches, largest of the more than 90 conferences of the new United Methodist Church in the United States.

Maj. Gherman Titov flew a Soviet spacecraft 17 times around the earth while America strove to catch up, with Mercury astronauts Virgil Grissom and Alan Shepard visiting the fringes of space.

America backed an exile invasion at Cuba's Bay of Pigs, a debacle that gave Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro ammunition for more and stronger tirades against U.S. "imperialism."

Remember 1962?
Russian missiles were spotted in Cuba. Washington told Moscow to get them out. American ships and planes threw a net over the ocean to enforce a blockade and be ready for anything. After a fortnight of alarm it ended. The Russians backed down.

John Glenn rocketed into three orbits of the earth and, like several subsequent space voyagers, called it "beautiful." James Meredith enrolled as the first known Negro at the University of Mississippi; two persons died in the subsequent rioting.

Remember 1963?
President Kennedy was shot to death in Dallas. Police arrested Lee Harvey Oswald, whose background was as varied and aimless as Kennedy's was disciplined and directed. Oswald was shot to death. The Warren Commission ruled he acted alone in killing the president, but doubts persisted.

A coup upset the government in Saigon, and Pope Paul VI succeeded Pope John XXIII. He was a traveler and a reformer, but in the years that followed, lay and clerical dissent over celibacy and birth control brought turmoil to his reign. Four young men from Liverpool with "pudding basin" haircuts sang: "I Want to Hold Your Hand." They built up a coterie, then a following, then a movement. The Beatles and the oddly named rock combos that sprang up beside them framed a life style for hundreds of thousands of young people.

Remember 1964?
Lyndon B. Johnson, who espoused Kennedy's principles with a Western accent, defeated Republican conservative Barry Goldwater for president. North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin and Johnson got congressional permission to widen the war. Rudi Gernreich introduced the topless swimsuit: a V of slender, unnecessary shoulder straps above what looked like a girdle. The swimsuit sold well but few women wore it.

workers James Chaney, Negro, Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, white, were found buried in a farm pond dam. The FBI sent in 153 agents building a case that ended only in 1969 with the upholding of two 10-year and five lesser sentences on civil rights convictions.

Congress banned race discrimination in restaurants and movie houses and gave the Justice Department broad enforcement powers. Race rioting erupted, surprisingly to many, in the North: Harlem, Rochester, N.Y., Jersey City Philadelphia. They called it "the long hot summer" after a chapter heading by Mississippi's William Faulkner but Americans didn't yet know what hot was.

Red China exploded an atomic bomb.

Remember 1965?
American troop strength in Vietnam hit 125,000 on its way to four times that. "We did not choose to be the guardians at the gate, but there is no one else," said President Johnson.

Black and white demonstrators marched from Selma, Ala., to Montgomery with Martin Luther King in the van. The demand was for voting rights. "We are not afraid," they sang. Viola Liuzzo, mother of five from Detroit, was shot to death. Congress passed a voting rights bill.

Another searing summer: in Los Angeles' Watts section a drunk driving arrest led to heckling, to arguing, to looting and arson. "Burn, baby, burn" was the cry. Thirty-four died. Edward H. White II took a space walk and liked it so much he had to be half-ordered back into the Gemini 4 capsule.

Remember 1966?
The war: 375,000 U.S. troops and relentless air strikes over North and South. Still at year's end North Vietnam was infiltrating 8,800 men a month into the South.

Another hot summer: Providence, San Francisco, Cleveland, Baltimore: seven dead, 400 injured, nearly 3,000 arrested, $5 million in damage. "Black Power" gained currency as did "white backlash." The former reflected the temper of Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael and their impatience with King's patient "we shall overcome."

Red China tested a thermonuclear bomb and a missile.

Remember 1967?
The scale and fury of the Vietnam war mounted. U.S. casualties passed 100,000. Bombing of the North was expanded then halted.

Israel suddenly struck outward in what it called a preventive attack against her Arab neighbors. Six days later the war ended with Israel occupying Arab territory.

The longest, hottest summer: riots blitzed 114 communities. Twenty six died in Newark and 27 in Detroit.

Remember 1968?
Martin Luther King likened himself to Moses: "I've looked over and I've seen the Promised Land. I may not get there with you." Shortly afterward in Memphis a sniper killed him. In Atlanta 150,000 persons gathered to honor him. Fires and looting hit 100 cities and towns: 46 dead.

Robert F. Kennedy, winner of the California Democratic primary for president, walked through a hotel kitchen. A hand, belonging to Sirhan B. Sirhan, reached through the crowd with a pistol and shot him in the head. Mourners lined roadside and railroads from New York to Washington where Kennedy was buried near his brother.

Guns. Thousands were buying them and thousands more worrying about them. Stung by events of the past five years, Congress passed a gun-control act, but critics said it wasn't strong enough.

Czechoslovakia experienced a heady spring of liberalism that waned after an invasion of Soviet-bloc allies in August.

The enemy's Tet offensive shook America's confidence on Vietnam. Pressure to get out increased in Congress. Peace talks began in Paris. Johnson said he wouldn't run again for president.

North Korea captured the U.S.S. Pueblo and later shot down an unarmed reconnaissance plane.

Chicago police and demonstrators clashed during the Democratic National Convention. Some said it was a police riot; some said the police were intolerably provoked.

Richard Nixon consummated his political rebirth, defeating Hubert Humphrey for president.

The year 1969:

Violence: near-war between police and the Black Panthers.

Shattered illusions: Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, My Lai, the scandal in Newark City Hall.

War: The Vietnam troop level ebbed; American deaths approached 40,000. Russia and China, increasingly antagonistic, skirmishing on their Far East border.

Hope: 400,000 kids grooving strangely but peacefully at Woodstock. Four Americans leaving footprints on the moon where a small sign reads: "We came in peace for all mankind."

What else was new in the '60s?

Skirts that sprang from mid-calf to mid thigh, bralessness, "the pill," LSD, nudity in films and magazines. All hailed as "the new freedom" or decried as a dive toward decadence.

Heart transplants, isolation of the gene—The bit of cell that governs what future cells will be like.

Negro mayors for Cleveland and Gary, Ind., and the Supreme Court's first Negro justice.

More than 20 million new Americans, driving the population past 200 million.

The world said goodbye to Churchill, Eisenhower, Robert Frost, coins with silver, the Saturday Evening Post, DeSotos Studebakers and Edsels.

Miss Nancy Lou Brobst Weds Mr. William Gibson

MRS. WILLIAM LEE GIBSON

The Trinity Lutheran Church of Circleville was the setting for the wedding on Saturday evening, November 29, of Miss Nancy Lou Brobst and Mr. William Lee Gibson. Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with vases and baskets of pink and white carnations and mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lois E. Brobst, 1130 Atwater Avenue, Circleville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gibson, Route 2, Williamsport.

A program of nuptial music was presented preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Tom Downing, organist and Mr. Roger Allen, vocalist.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, John Brobst, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of silk peau de soie featuring very full English net sleeves trimmed in crisscross Val lace. This same trim formed the empire bodice with a narrow band of daisy Venice lace accenting the waistline and edging the oval neckline. The A-line peau skirt was highlighted with a flat tailored bow in the back with streamers falling over the full circular attached train. Double rows of Venice lace added lovely detail to both the hemline of the skirt and the train. Her cathedral veil fell from a small satin pillbox trimmed in the daisy Venice lace and pearls. Lace and pearl medallions were scattered over the imported silk illusion veil that extended beyond the train on the gown. She carried a bouquet of shattered white carnations, centered with a purple-throated white orchid and white satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

Maid of honor was Miss Marsha Brobst, the bride's sister. The bridesmaids were Miss Susan Ferrell of New Washington, former roommate of the bride at Capital University and Miss Anne Hoggatt, Indianapolis, Ind., cousin of the bride. All attendants were gowned alike in floor length dresses of mortar silk chiffon shirt-waist bodice with very full sleeves ending with ruffles over the wrist, topping the A-line deep red velvet skirt. A wide avacado satin belt accented the modified waistline. The attendants wore headpieces of matching red velvet contoured double Dior bows with brief illusion veils and carried nosegay bouquets of pink and white carnations with gardenia foliage and white streamers. Leslie Townsend, of Cincinnati, niece of the groom, was flower girl and was dressed identically to the other attendants. Her blonde curls were tied with an avacado green ribbon, and she carried a white lace basket of rose petals.

Matthew Gibson and H. L. Gibson, nephews of the groom, served as ring bearer and acolyte. They wore black tuxedos matching those of the men attendants. Best man was Rick Dittman, Oxford, fraternal brother of the groom. The ushers were Lyndon Gibson, brother of the groom and David Mayie, Columbus.

Mrs. Brobst wore a lime green silk and worsted ensemble with matching hat and mink brown accessories. Mrs. Gibson wore a turquoise knit dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink and white carnations and mums.

A reception in the Lutheran Parish House was held immediately following the wedding. The bride's table was centered with a 4-tiered cake decorated in pink and white and surrounded with greenery and pink sweetheart roses. Hostesses were Ellisa Evans, Circleville, classmate of the bride and Mary Draoulec, Marsha Lautlamus and Joan Brennenman, Capital University. Miss Mary Lynn Hoggatt, Indianapolis, Ind., presided at the guest register.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a burgandy coat and dress ensemble with the

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

"The Little Match Girl" by Hans Christian Andersen, illustrated by Blair Lent. Blair Lent's pictures for this classic tale are modern in technique. Yet they portray the feeling of sentimentality and days of long gone that we associate with the "Little Match Girl". Sad though the story is, it should be read to every child whose parents want him to become familiar with good literature. Picture book.

"Pigs and Pirates" is an old Greek tale about three clever swineherds and how they outwitted evil pirates. Pigs, you know, are very intelligent animals. Their swineherds had taught them several tricks which proved useful in a time of crisis. Harold Berson has done a clear and pleasing job with the illustrations. Indeed, they seem almost to tell the story without the need of a text. Picture book.

"Pam and Pam" by Margaret Gans. Pam's doll was "Pam," and Cathy's doll was "Bimbo the Clown." The two girls played together at the park. One day they exchanged toys, and then Cathy seemed to disappear. Pam missed her "Pam" until the last day of summer, when Cathy came running to meet her. Easy reader, Grades 1-3.

"The Parsonage Parrott" by Jean Bothwell. P. K.'s — preachers' kids — are the heroes of this lively yarn. The book is full of good guys and a real, dyed-in-the-wool villain. It takes the P. K.'s and their pet parrot to sort out the characters. Exceptionally good reading for grades 4-6.

"Skralan and the Pirates" by Astrid Lindgren, illustrated by Albert Read and Christine Sapienza. This collection of absolutely beautiful photographs is strung together loosely by a thin thread of a plot. Numerous characters make even this difficult to follow. But adorable children and pets are caught in natural poses and clear, sunny weather appears on every page. The pictures were taken on Saltcrow Island and printed in Italy. Nice for browsing. Grades 4-6.

"Clara Barton, battlefield nurse" by Peggy Mann. Though timid all her life, Clara Barton began, at the age of eleven, to fight for the chance to serve others. She was first a crusading schoolteacher, later the first woman clerk in the United States Patent Office in Washington, D. C. Her Civil War record has been well publicized, but here Miss Mann details her struggles for permission to tend the wounded. Of course, she is best known for establishing the American Red Cross. And it is due to her efforts that Red Cross assistance was extended to disaster victims all over the world. Miss Barton is revered in the hearts of Americans and Europeans as well. Readable and inspirational reading for grades 4-6.

HAPPY NEW YEAR—This photo could be a New Year greeting from the White House.

Trade Law Change Rapped

Diplomats Attack
U.S. Tariff Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new law liberalizing U.S. exports to Communist countries has been received with somewhat less than enthusiasm by diplomats of the affected nations.

What those countries really are interested in is liberalizing of imports to the United States or, in other words, getting most-favored-nations-MFN—tariff treatment for their products.

This was made clear from a check with diplomats representing Communist nations in Washington. The exceptions are Poland and Yugoslavia, two nations which already enjoy the low tariff of MFN.

None of the diplomats questioned would say his country was not interested in the Dec. 23 congressional action which in effect permits American exporters to compete with the exporters of Western Europe and of Japan for the Communist market in non-strategic goods. But, the diplomats argued, to buy in the United States—and to pay for the purchase—would require an increase in their exports to this country. They said this remains impossible as long as their products are subjected to the prohibitive rates of the 1930 Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act.

The difference between MFN tariffs and those of the Smoot-Hawley Act averages 50 per cent but reaches 400 per cent or more on certain items.

MFN tariffs were withdrawn from Communist nations in 1951 at the head of the cold war. The low tariff treatment was returned to Yugoslavia when that country defied Moscow in the late 1940s, and to Poland when it appeared to have gained some degree of independence in 1956. President Nixon is understood to believe that no thought should be given to liberalizing imports from Communist countries until settlement of the Vietnam war in view of the support Hanoi gets from the Communist countries of Eastern Europe.

Although administration sources declined to say what impact the new bill might have on U.S. exports to Communist countries, their private view is that it will be minimal.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Son's Dogs Upset His Parents!

DEAR ABBY: I am so disgusted I don't know which way to turn. Our son lives in another town. He has a degree from a leading university and is presently working on his Masters; however from the judgment he uses, one would never know he finished college.

Our son has always loved pets and at present I am keeping and caring for about a dozen dogs, just because he likes them. He has these dogs at school, but when he comes home for week-ends, he brings his dogs with him.

I have recently installed wall to wall carpet, and not all his dogs are housebroken. My carpet is taking a beating, and the place smells like a kennel.

No one can say a word against his dogs or he flies off the handle. If I complain, he won't come home at all, which would bother his father and me more than it would bother him. So what can I do?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: You're doing it. Complaining to me.

DEAR ABBY: Margie's husband thinks HE has a problem because Margie has to call her bachelor boss at 7 a.m. every morning to wake him up. MY wife's boss calls HER every morning at 7 a.m. to tell her what he wants her to do that day when she gets to the office. He also calls her as soon as she gets home in the evening and DICTATES letters to her, on the phone so she can have them ready the first thing the next morning.

So tell Marge's husband that I know how he feels. I also wish I had my wife all to myself at home.

SIGN ME "TEX"

DEAR TEX: Stop wishing. Tell your wife to quit her job and stay home. Or do you like the income, Tex? Forgive me.

DEAR ABBY: I am 37 years old, stand 4'11" and have been married for 20 years. I have four children, ages 19, 18, 7 and 2. I still weigh the same as I did when I was married—102!

To give you an idea of the way I live, I rise early, clean my house, and then get busy on my meals. am told I am an excellent housekeeper, cook, and mother. I paint, sew, lay tile, garden. You name it, I've done it. I have never neglected my husband sexually either. In other words he spends his evenings at home with me.

I am sick to death of hearing my friends and neighbors exclaim in amazement, "I don't know how you do so much!" Well, I can tell them how. I get up and begin, that's how. Sick or well, I begin.

Recently I met a 22-year-old mother of two. She weighed in the neighborhood of 170 pounds. After looking at me, she said, "You look so young and trim. I'll bet you never worked a day in your life." I laughed. (I had just spent the entire summer painting the interior of our house.)

I would like to tell all those hefty dames who envy the slim ones, "You can be slim, too, if you will get off your fat fannies and do something." Don't "dust" your kitchen floors, get down, and SCRUB them! Don't wait for your husband to find time to wash the windows, wash them yourself. I've washed windows for 20 years and it hasn't killed me yet.

It's a known fact that women outlive their husbands. And I know why! The husbands do their own jobs, come home, and do their wives' too. Sign me.

North Vietnam Still Intent On Military Victory In South

By PETER ARNETT and HORST FAAS
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's war machine is fully geared against South Vietnam and from all that is known Hanoi's intent is still total military victory.
As 1969 ends, top-level analysis by intelligence officers indicates that troops and materials now being assembled at the borders constitute more than just a show of North Vietnamese strength.
Intelligence men say plans made in Hanoi last March, six months before Ho Chi Minh died, call for yet another major winter-spring offensive.
Step one has been to set up supply bases outside Vietnam. Step two has been the attempt to put supplies near future battlefields inside the country.
Step three, by the current analysis, is the infiltration of small bands of troops. Step four will be the attempt to mass into large military formations prior to a general attack.
The North Vietnamese seem to be keeping to schedule even though some of the steps have fallen short because of strong allied reaction. "They are stockpiling more and they are on the move more than they ever were prior to the Tet attacks of 1968," says an American intelligence officer in the northern 1st Corps. "The amount of equipment they preposition on the battlefield will determine how large a force they can sustain."
In some places reconnaissance indicates the North Vietnamese regiments are about to take the last step of getting ready for battle.
The buildup reaches along the entire western border of Vietnam, 700 miles from the Gulf of Siam to the demilitarized zone.
This threat more than anything else worries American field commanders about getting sudden orders to withdraw from Vietnam.
All American combat divisions but one are deeply involved in today's prime military mission of finding and preventing the North Vietnamese from penetrating the security shield that protects the population.
The North Vietnamese have two advantages they did not enjoy when they geared up against the American troop escalation in the mid-60s. At that time their supplies were bombed from the time they were received at the Haiphong docks.

War for the soldiers began when they boarded trucks to come South.
With the U.S. bombing halt in effect since Nov. 1, 1968, war for the North Vietnamese begins now only at the western edge of the demilitarized zone when they enter Laos.
The second advantage is that the North Vietnamese remain invulnerable in Cambodia, which borders much of South Vietnam.
Once they kept out of sight there. Today they have openly occupied whole border districts and are seemingly oblivious to complaints from Cambodia's head of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk. At least half all war supplies are believed landed by sea in Cambodia.
The new bases of Hanoi's forces have been built for more than one campaign, according to allied intelligence assessments. Their purpose seems to be to sustain the war for years. The intricate supply complex built into the jungled mountains along the Laotian frontier and at the western part of the DMZ may be so well fortified they could survive any conventional bombing should it be resumed.
The hotspots where action might be expected in the next few weeks reach from the ridgelines of the DMZ, across the foothills of central Vietnam to the jungled war zones around Saigon and down to the tangled swamps of the U Minh forest.
According to the best information available, increased traffic has been reported north and west of the DMZ. "The area has been humming with activity since September," one observer said. Here engineers have built their largest rear supply complex and as many as a thousand trucks may be working it. Even pipelines feed into the complex.
This base and a similar one to the southwest in Laos support 10 infantry and two artillery regiments. Some have flanked Viet-rapid strides have been made this year in pacification.

The U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade may face a tough winter.
The 1st Marine Division and the U.S. Army's Americal Division have their hands full keeping the North Vietnamese out of the three provinces south of Da Nang. The problems are heightened by the presence of intact local Viet Cong units among the population, such as the 48th Battalion that fights around the village of My Lai.
Then there is War Zone C. Nowhere in the country have the North Vietnamese made more attempts to battle and had more setbacks than in the familiar battlegrounds northwest of Saigon which four divisions enter from camps in the Cambodian sanctuaries.
South Vietnamese are being worked into this grueling job, but in this area it is hard to find evidence they are anywhere near capable of handling it alone if the North Vietnamese keep up what looks like a suicidal posture.
The brigade commander says: "We are grinding them down and they are getting lower and lower." But by available reckoning there are still 6,500 guerrillas in Long An, unchanged from two years ago. And as many Viet Cong battalions remain in Dinh Tuong Province as there were before the Americans came. The five mobile Viet Cong battalions have won most of the battles against the 7th Vietnamese Infantry Division since the U.S. 9th Division was withdrawn last summer. Half the enemy soldiers are reported to be North Vietnamese.
All over the country, intelligence reports suggest, Hanoi's troops can be expected to push harder as their supply bases improve and come into full operation.
To counter these moves American forces and some elite Vietnamese units are using sophisticated tactics and equipment that require a high degree of individual professionalism.
American field officers interviewed across the country expressed doubt that the Vietnamese will be ready for years to take care of their borders by themselves. Vietnamese field officers say they will do their part, but that they can't do it all.

1969 Had 'Good News' Mixed With Much Bad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Attention was focused on war and conflict. Crime and corruption claimed headlines. Yet there was "good news" in 1969 and some of the best of it was recorded in stories that showed countless citizens at their unselfish best.

It was the year a blind high school dropout named Clyde Raymond Smith earned his doctorate degree. It was the year that Illinois neighbors pitched in to help Don Kruse when he lost parts of both legs in a farm accident.

It was another year of conflict on many of the nation's campuses but at Eastern Mennonite College in Virginia students took odd jobs and helped raise $400,000 for a start on construction of a $1.4 million library.

Perhaps one of the best remembered "good news" stories of the year occurred on a Detroit bus. A man attacked the driver and broke his arm. Most of the passengers covered in their seats but 71-year-old Bernice Kuliszko ran up the aisle and pushed the assailant away. Smith, now teaching in Peoria, Ill., dropped out of high school and had abandoned hope of supporting himself and his wife. Later he passed an entrance exam to Arkansas State College. He graduated with honors, got a master's degree from the University of Missouri and in December got his doctor of education degree from the University of Tennessee.

People gave of themselves. In Moro, Ill., Kruse, 31, a part-time farmer, lost parts of both legs when caught in a corn picking machine. His friends not only raised $12,000 to help him, but also harvested his fields and built a concrete sidewalk, driveway and patio for his house.

In North Bend, Wash., neighbors of a baker who was injured with his wife in an auto accident, manned his shop themselves. Among those helping sell the pastries were a minister and an undertaker.

A Richfield, Minn., widow got a new roof for her home. It was installed by the "Operation Brotherhood" organization whose members donate several hours each week to an "ability bank" to help people in need.

Even prisoners displayed generosity. This year 240 inmates of Tucker Prison Farm in Pine Bluff, Ark., each contributed $1 they received as Christmas presents from the state for presents for 25 poor children living nearby.

Animals got into the act at Broward Humane Society Shelter in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. They licked their chops at an overflow of donated food after staffers appealed to the public. The 800 cans of food and 700 pounds of dry meal was plenty for all including an armadillo, a monkey and a turkey who made it through the Thanksgiving crisis.

Honesty was one of the traits seen in this year's good news. A woman in Boone, N.C., who lost a pocketbook with $600 and no local address in it, got it back through a radio appeal. In Aurora, Colo., a billfold with $4 and a bevy of credit cards in it was lost and returned intact by mail to its owner. The 18-year-old finder did not want a reward.

And in St. Louis, a young Marine who had been stranded in Los Angeles earlier in the year and was loaned $12 toward a plane ticket by an unidentified woman, showed his thanks by donating $100 to the Central Institute for the Deaf. She had declined repayment but suggested he send any amount he wanted to the school.

Hughes Gets Safety Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — James J. Hughes, 33, a local attorney, will be sworn in as director of the City Safety Department this morning.

Hughes' appointment was announced Tuesday by Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner. Hughes replaces Fredrick J. Simon, who retires today after six years of service. Hughes is a partner in the law firm of Porter, Stanley, Greffinger and Platt.

He was the 1966 Democratic candidate for the Ohio General Assembly from the 62nd district and has been the campaign manager for several Ohio judicial candidates.

Hughes, who will be paid between $21,000 and $25,000 a year, is a member of the Franklin County Democratic Executive Committee, and former vice president and trustee of the Franklin County Young Democrats.

Expensive Gamble Pays Off For Popular Jim Nabors

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jim Nabors' multimillion-dollar gamble has paid off. Earlier this year the bashful lad from Sylacauga, Ala., astounded the television trade by announcing that he was taking an honorary discharge from the Marine Corps and his series "Gomer Pyle." What baffled the trade was why a star would turn his back on an obvious gold mine.

As a series, "Gomer" held the potential of many more years of life. In its fifth and last season in prime time, the series was the second most popular show, finishing behind "Laugh-In." But Nabors had his reasons: "I love to sing. And I thought a variety show of my own would be more rewarding to me personally. As to the money, I didn't know. But as it turned out, doing the variety show has meant more money for me."

So he is doubly pleased with the success of "The Jim Nabors Show." The Nielsen ratings indicate that it is the most popular of the shows that debuted this season.

For Jim the new job is a breeze after seven years filming situation comedies—before "Gomer" he did a two-year stint on "The Andy Griffith Show."

"For eight months a year on 'Gomer' I was up at 5 in the morning every day," he recalled. "My work wasn't like Jim Arness, in 'Gunsmoke,' where he comes in two days a week. Or Fred MacMurray on 'My Three Sons.' I was in every shot."

"And for the first four years of the show I didn't trust my success. Every weekend and on every vacation, I would take off to play night clubs and concerts, figuring that the whole thing would blow over some day."

"You know something? I still find it difficult to believe this kind of acceptance. I still don't trust it."

Man Arrested For Planting Of Marijuana

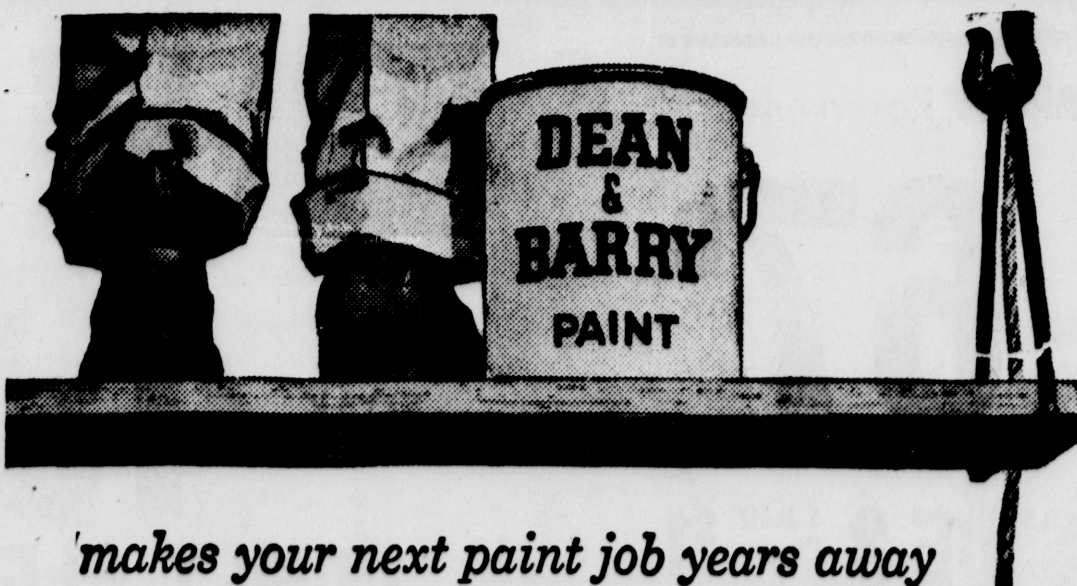

CINCINNATI (AP) — Richard L. Von Nida, 22, was free today with an admonishment to check his seeds before planting anything else.

Von Nida was acquitted in Hamilton county Common Pleas Court Tuesday of charges that he knowingly grew marijuana in his back yard.

Von Nida, who plays in a rock band, said a group of fans in Cleveland gave him gifts after an engagement there. He said the gifts included jelly beans and what he thought were sunflower seeds.

Cincinnati police arrested Von Nida when they discovered four foot plants of marijuana growing in the yard.

THE MEN BEHIND — Here are the four coaches in the pro football championship playoff games Sunday, January 4. Opposing each other in the AFL title game are John Madden of Oakland and Hank Stram of Kansas City. In the NFL playoff the head coaches are Blanton Collier of Cleveland and Bud Grant of Minnesota.

Browns And Vikings Likely To Go For Aerial Bombs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League final in Minnesota Sunday shapes up as a test of brute strength between two muscle machines who prefer to run the ball but usually score with the pass.
But Grant's Minnesota Vikings undoubtedly will try to run at the Cleveland Browns with Dave Osborn and Bill Brown or Oscar Reed. In return, Blanton Collier positively will probe with Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott as his Cleveland team attempts to force an opening for Bill Nelsen's passes.

If the Vikings or Browns find they can do the job with the rush, they will play it close to the vest. But it is unlikely that either club will be able to ram the ball down the other's throats. Statistics do show it is easier to run on the Browns than on the Vikings.
Unless the weatherman comes up with a blizzard at game time 1 p.m. EST, both Grant and Collier probably will go to the pass. If that happens, the real war will be fought in the pit as the anonymous interior linemen battle to give Joe Kapp of the Vikings and Nelsen the precious three seconds they need to set up and throw.

Because surgery to both knees limits his mobility, Nelsen must be given the same type of air tight protection that the New York Jets usually give Joe Namath. That means Dick Schaf-rath, John Demaris, Fred Hoaglin, Gene Hickerson and Monte Clark must handle Carl Eller, Gary Larsen, Alan Page and Jim Marshall, the Vikings' Purple Gang.

The Browns' line has permitted its quarterback to be dumped only 20 times, Nelsen 17, Jerry Rhyme 3. The Vikings have dumped the enemy quarterback 49 times in regular season.

When the Vikings slaughtered the Browns 51-3 on Nov. 9 at Minnesota, they got to Nelsen twice and intercepted three of his passes. Kapp threw for three scores before turning over the job to Gary Cuozzo.

Kapp, the unpredictable, has been smeared 28 times by enemy rushers and blitzers and Cuozzo, his backup man, has been sacked six times. That makes 34 times the Vikings' line of Grady Alder, Jim Vellone, Mick Tingelhoff, Milt Sunde and Ron Yary have let their passer down.

As the Los Angeles Rams learned last Saturday, Kapp can ram the ball home in his own style. In 22 carries this year he gained 104 yards (Nelsen wound up with minus 11 yards for five runs).

The Browns don't usually put on the big rush but the underrated foursome of Ron Snidow, Walt Johnson (probably the best), Jim Kanicki and Jack Gregory sacked the passer 37 times plus getting to Craig Morton three times in Dallas Sunday and pressured him into only eight completions of 24 thrown and two costly interceptions.

Race Tracks Still Closed By Strikes

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The poties are taking a rest at Santa Anita here and at Bay Meadows in San Mateo and, from the way management and union factions talk, it's going to be a long one.

Approximately 2,000 pari-mutuel clerks and service workers struck the tracks last Friday, opening day at both tracks, several days after negotiations broke off.

Ron Curl of Chicago, Michigan State defensive tackle, blocked four punts for the Spartans last season. He also blocked one extra point attempt.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Ohio State football fans responded to a ballot placed in the homecoming football program and selected their all-time Ohio State team.

Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy, 1954-55 All-American and Heisman award winner, was voted Ohio State's all-time great. Rounding out the backfield with Cassidy were Charles "Chic" Harley, the first Buckeye All-American (1916), Vic Janowicz and Les Horvath, also All-Americans and Heisman award winners in 1950 and 1944 respectively.

Ends selected were Wesley Fesler, a three-time All-American (1923-29-30), and Jim Houston (1958-59). Bill Willis, 1944 All-American, and Dave Foley (1968) were picked at the tackle spots.

Guards selected were Jim Parker (1955-56) and Lindell Houston (1942). The center spot went to Gomer Jones (1935).

Synthetic turf has really come into the sport picture and the most prominent are Tartan Turf and Astro-Turf.

Tartan Turf consists of a nylon topping bonded to a resilient, synthetic base which, in turn, is bonded to asphalt over a prepared dirt surface.

AstroTurf is a grasslike surface material, with nylon pile ranging from 5/8 to 1 1/16 of an inch. It is composed of grasslike blades, knitted to a 15-ounce nylon-polyester backing and bonded to a tough 3/4 inch shock-absorbing, moistureproof pad, which, in turn, is bonded to an asphalt base.

Our little gem of information — The Wolverines of Michigan will be out to protect their great Rose Bowl record when they meet Southern California on New Year's day. The Wolverines scored 146-points and allowed only 13 while winning their four starts there.

Our record of forecasting now stands at 27 right and 19 wrong for 59 percent. The art of predicting requires quite a bit of work and research but we don't mind the effort. The thing that gives us the most trouble is when we flip the coin and it stands on edge.

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville to begin a winning streak at Hillsboro . . . Logan Elm to win over Zane Trace and Huntington . . . Penn State to beat Missouri in the Orange Bowl . . . Arkansas over Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl . . . Texas to spoil Notre Dame's Cotton Bowl bid . . . Michigan to edge Southern California in the Rose Bowl . . . Houston by a "margarine" over Auburn in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

PRO-dictions — Rams to lasso the Cowboys in the Runnerup Bowl . . . Raiders will edge the Chiefs for AFL honors . . . Browns to win the "cold war" with the Vikings.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Cincinnati Royals Top Rockets, 125-120

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals walked off the floor with their fourth straight victory Tuesday night after beating the San Diego Rockets 125-120 in a National Basketball Association game.
Tom Van Arsdale came off the injured list to sink 29 points for the Royals while the Rocket's six-foot-nine center, Elvin Hayes hit for 31 points — the last eight from the charity stripe.

Bonnies Beat Purdue For Title

By DICK JOYCE
Associated Press Sports Writer
That mountain of a man, St. Bonaventure's Bob Lanier, is still looking for someone to cut him down to size. At 6-foot-10, 270 pounds, it may not come until he turns pro next season.
Big Bob came through with the top individual performance as the annual holiday college basketball tournaments came to a close Tuesday night. His 50 points powered the Bonnies from Olean, N.Y., to a 91-75 victory over Purdue for the Holiday Festival championship in New York.
The victory ran the 12th-ranked Bonnies unbeaten string to seven games. Purdue, 7-3, is ranked No. 17.

Three other teams ranked in the Associated Press Top Twenty poll captured tournament titles.
Third-ranked South Carolina, led by John Roche's clutch foul shooting and Tom Riker's 36 points, downed Notre Dame 84-83 in overtime for the Sugar Bowl title at New Orleans. Austin Carr hit 43 for the 13th-ranked Irish.
North Carolina, No. 4, captured the Carolina Classic by tripping Bowling Green, 89-72, behind Charley Scott's 27 points. Davidson thumped Syracuse 103-81 for the Charlotte Invitational crown as sophomore Brian Adrian led the way with 32 points.

Purdue Coach George King called Lanier the best big man in the country. "As a player he does some things Lew Alcindor didn't do," he said. Lanier completely overshadowed the Bonnies' All-American Rick Mount, who was held to 19 points by the Bonnies' tight zone defense.
Lanier hit 18 of 22 shots from the field, including 18 straight points in the first half. He also grabbed 15 rebounds.
Unbeaten but unranked Niagara, even without Calvin Murphy for 16 minutes of the second half, took the All-College championship by downing host Oklahoma City 87-75. Murphy, 5-foot-10 All-American, was benched with four personal fouls early in the second half. But Wayne Jones picked up the slack, finishing with 20. Murphy had 22, 18 in the first half.

Oklahoma took the Big Eight crown with a 73-72 victory over Colorado, ranked No. 20. It was the Sooners' 10th win in 11 starts, with Steve Avers sinking the clinching free throw.
Oregon handed ninth-ranked Washington its first setback 83-73 for the Far West championship at Portland, Ore. Stan Love poured in 25 points and Billy Gaskins added 22 for Oregon.
Fran Dunphy's 24 points paced LaSalle to the Quaker City title at Philadelphia, beating previously unbeaten Columbia, tied for No. 15 in the rankings, 89-74.
Mel Knight's layup with 13 seconds remaining earned Seton Hall the Hurricane Classic tie, 56-55, over Texas. Fifth-ranked Ohio University salvaged the Hurricane consolation prize with a 99-74 triumph over Miami of Florida as John Canine scored 37 for the winners.
Sixth-ranked Tennessee was another consolation winner, rapping Memphis State 72-51 in the All-College tourney. Seventh-ranked New Mexico State defeated Sul Ross 95-75 in a non-tourney game. Houston, No. 8, belted California-Santa Barbara 98-85 for consolation honors in the Las Vegas Classic.
Among the other tournament winners were Florida State, an 88-63 victor over Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Georgetown, D.C., which downed Stanford, 101-81 in the Kodak Classic at Rochester, N.Y., and Texas A&M, which grabbed the Poinsettia title in Greenville, S. C. by nipping Northwestern, 93-91.

North Carolina Defeats Bowling Green In Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bowling Green provided scrappy opposition for fourth-ranked North Carolina Tuesday night but a clutch performance in the finish gave the Tarheels an 89-72 victory and shoved the Ohioans into second place in the Carolina Classic.
Marietta, Mount Union, Ashland and Otterbein picked up championships in other holiday tournaments and Ohio University, dumped Monday by Texas, wallowed Miami of Florida in the consolation game at the Hurricane Classic.
In non-tourney play, Toledo downed Tennessee Tech 75-67, Youngstown beat Eastern Montana 90-76 and Long Island University shaded Wittenberg 59-58.
Bowling Green managed a 54-54 tie early in the second period, but at 60-all North Carolina's Charlie Scott took over, scoring 15 of his 27 points in the second half and putting the game out of the Falcons' reach. Dan McLemore topped Bowling Green's scoring with 16 points.

John Canine paced the Bobcat with 37 points and Craig Love shattered the classic's rebound record with 44 in two games — 16 in Tuesday's game. The Bobcats now are 8-1 and are currently ranked fifth in the nation.
Cincinnati pulled away from Boston College, with the help of John Fraley's 20 points in the second half, to beat the Eagles 85-70 for fifth place in the Eastern College Athletic Conference tournament at New York City. Ashland won its own tournament for the second straight year, dropping Western Illinois 51-30 despite a stall attempt by the visitors. Trenton State College of New Jersey edged C.W. Post 76-73 in the consolation game.
Mount Union also won its own tournament as Jim Howell scored 36 points to help crush Heidelberg 108-86. Wilmington scored a 100-85 victory over Hiram in the consolation match.

Marietta rallied from a 40-35 halftime deficit to take an 87-83 victory over DePauw for the championship in the Wooster Classic. Wooster pulled away in the final minutes to down the University of Buffalo 91-83 in the consolation.
Otterbein triumphed, 77-73, in a see-saw fight with Muskingum for top honors in the Muskingum tourney after Grove City of Pennsylvania crushed New Hampshire 103-88 in the consolation round.
Findlay could not quite catch up to St. Benedict and lost the championship of the Findlay Invitational to the Kansas team 58-55. Georgetown of Kentucky won the consolation over Bentley College of Massachusetts, 103-95.

Survivors Of 4 Horsemen Recall Famous Bowl Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The last Notre Dame football team to play in a bowl game spent two weeks getting from South Bend to Pasadena, Calif., and Knute Rockne blew his top because the players gorged themselves out of condition.
"Rock got very irritable," Jim Crowley, one of the fabled Four Horsemen who helped crush Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl 45 years ago, recalled Tuesday. "He was mad because we were dined but not wined."
"We went by bus by way of New Orleans, Houston and Tucson and everywhere we stopped were feted by civic clubs. I remember at New Orleans we stuffed ourselves so much on oysters we couldn't move."
"Finally, we got to Tucson, which was a cow town then. The Rock made us stay there a week. But he told us to be careful about reaching for a handkerchief or a billfold in our hip pockets. Somebody might interpret it as a draw and we might get shot."
Crowley and two other members of the backfield immortalized by sportswriter Grantland Rice—Don Miller and Elmer Layden—flew into Dallas for Notre Dame's Cotton Bowl battle Thursday against No. 1 ranked Texas. The fourth member, Harry Stuhldreher, died in February, 1965.
The men whom Rice likened to the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse—War, Famine, Death and Pestilence—are now gray and plumpish, but still sharp and puckish in their remembrances.

Layden, 66, the fullback, is the grayest and slimmest, a transportation salesman now retired. "I've got so much now to do I can't get it all in," he says.
Crowley, 67, jowly, bespectacled and with a spreading paunch, is an industrial commissioner at Scranton, Pa. The other halfback, Miller, 67 and 188 pounds, is a U.S. district attorney in Cleveland.
Frequently thrown together for occasions such as this, they are like a vaudeville team, swapping quips and insults with each other, telling vivid stories and demonstrating a rare and warm camaraderie.
"Our backfield averaged only 156 pounds," Miller recalled, "and the line averaged 172 pounds."
Crowley, who later coached at Michigan State and Fordham, remembered that one night on the trip he and end Ed Hunsinger were caught by Rockne at 9:55 p.m., five minutes before curfew, buying Christmas cards in a store.
"Rock told us to go to our rooms and the next day to get our tickets home," he said. But Adam Walsh pleaded their case and they were allowed to remain on the team.
"At the start of the game, Hunsinger recovered a Stanford fumble and ran for a touchdown," Crowley reminisced. "I

Pacers, Nets Win Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indiana continued its sizzling string of success in the Eastern Division, but New York's upstarts made a big contribution toward adding a little spice in the American Basketball Association's Western Division chase.
Indiana, backed by 23 points each from John Barnhill and Roger Brown, turned back Miami 118-109 in the first game of a doubleheader at Pittsburgh Tuesday night to stretch its winning streak to seven.
The New York Nets, meanwhile, rode some deadly first half shooting by Levern Tart to a 110-102 conquest of New Orleans' Western Division leaders.
In other games, Pittsburgh beat Carolina 97-89 and Denver turned back Los Angeles 123-116.
In the National Basketball Association, Milwaukee nipped Baltimore 126-124, New York rolled past Chicago 116-96, Cincinnati defeated San Diego 125-120, San Francisco beat Los Angeles 105-100, and Seattle bombed Phoenix 134-121.

Heavy Schedule Of Bowl Games Readied

By DICK JOYCE
Associated Press Sports Writer
What are you doing New Year's Eve?

Two sophomore quarterbacks who didn't figure on starting this season plan to light up the Astrodome's $2-million scoreboard when Auburn meets Houston tonight in the 11th Astro-Bluebonnet bowl.

It figures to be a 10-touchdown game with Pat Sullivan of Auburn and Gary "Moon" Mullins of the host Cougars leading the way.

Both teams are high-scoring college football powers with 52 records and can explode on the ground and through the air. Houston, ranked No. 19, has rolled up an average of 38.6 points a game this season; 12th-ranked Auburn 36.3.

Touching off this long week of football activity Tuesday night was the second Peach Bowl in Atlanta where another sophomore, Eddie Williams, pounded out the yardage to lead West Virginia to a 14-3 victory over South Carolina.

But the Mountaineers' 10th victory in 11 starts may have been a going away present for coach Jim Carlen. He said after the game that he will decide within a week whether to leave West Virginia and accept the head coaching job at Texas Tech.

Bob Gresham scored for the Mountaineers on a 10-yard run in the first period and Jim Braxton got the clincher on a one-yard run with only 23 seconds remaining in the rain-soaked contest played before 48,542. Billy DuPre's 37-yard field goal put the Gamecocks on the scoreboard in the second period.

But it was Williams who was named the game's most valuable offensive player. He carried 35 times for 208 yards.

The first major contest to get under way on New Year's Day is the Sugar Bowl (ABC, 1:45 p.m. EST) between third-ranked Arkansas and 13th-ranked Mississippi. The favored Razorbacks present a 9-1 record, losing only to Texas in the regular season finale, a balanced offense and the nation's stingiest defense against scoring.

The Ole Miss offense revolves around Archie Manning, a spectacular junior quarterback who engineered big victories over LSU, Tennessee and Georgia this season. Mississippi finished with a 7-3 mark.

NBC comes on with the Texas-Notre Dame showdown at 2 p.m. (EST). Making their first bowl appearance in 45 years the Fighting Irish will have to stop the Longhorns' powerful ground game, led by quarterback James Street.

Texas, winner of all ten starts, faces Irish front lines that outweigh the Longhorns' almost 20 pounds a man. Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian, whose team compiled an 8-1-1 mark, promised that it will be "a hittin' football game." After that NBC comes on with the Rose Bowl at 5 p.m. (EST) and the Orange Bowl at 8:15 p.m.

In the Rose, oldest bowl of them all, both clubs present solid running and passing quarterbacks. Sophomore Jimmy Jones guides fifth-ranked Southern California, 9-0-1, against seventh-ranked Michigan, 8-2, paced by junior QB Don Moorhead who helped the Wolverines knock off Ohio State this season. Moorhead made good on 50 per cent of his pass attempts this season as well as carrying the ball more often than any other Wolverine. He tossed for five touchdowns and scored nine times.

Jones scored three touchdowns and passed for 12 TDs. Southern Cal's attack also featured tailback Clarence Davis, who piled up 1,275 yards in 282 carries and nine touchdowns.

If Notre Dame knocks off Texas, emotion will be running high at the Orange Bowl where second-ranked Penn State tackles sixth-ranked Missouri. The Nit-tany Lions have enough going as is-being the underdog and striving to extend their 29-game unbeaten string.

Penn State coach Joe Paterno was none too pleased when President Nixon acclaimed Texas as the No. 1 team in the land following the Longhorns' 15-14 triumph over Arkansas. Hoping to land in the top spot in the final Associated Press poll, to be conducted after Thursday's games, Penn State will have to top a strong Missouri offense, led by Terry McMillan and Joe Moore, which can strike in the air and on the ground. Missouri finished with a 9-1 record.

3 More Ohioans Die In Viet War
WASHINGTON AP — The Defense Department reported Tuesday that Army Pfc. Alan R. Rader of rural Fostoria was killed recently in action in the Vietnam war.

Malinoski Undergoes Surgery On Knee
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Defenseman Gordie Malinoski of the Dayton Gems underwent knee surgery Tuesday — the third member of the International Hockey League team to be operated on this season. Malinoski was hurt against Muskegon last weekend. He joins Dayton left wingers Duncan Rousseau and Tom Iannone on the sidelines. The Gems lead the Southern Division of the IHL.

Exchange Student Speaks To Ashville Kiwanis Club

ASHVILLE KIWANIS PRESENTATION — Kiwanian Don R. Forquer (left), originator of the Teays Valley High School Student Exchange Program, presents a certificate of appreciation to exchange student Elaine Campbell as her father looks on. Elaine spent the summer in Guayaquil, Ecuador and related her experiences to Kiwanis Club members at the Tuesday night meeting.

Another chapter of the Student Exchange Program of the Ashville Kiwanis Club was written this week when Elaine Campbell spoke to the Club.

Elaine told of the many experiences she had this summer as an exchange student in Guayaquil, Ecuador. While in Ecuador, she lived with the family of Pedro Aspiazu. Not only did Elaine get to observe the home life of Ecuadorians first hand, she became one of the family and participated with them in the various activities.

While in Ecuador she was able to travel around the country with other students from the United States and feels that she has seen the country in a much different light than the average tourist is able to do.

Summing up her summer she was impressed with the poverty, beauty, filth and social life of the people.

The exchange program of the Ashville Kiwanis Club has been in operation for four years and was originated by Kiwanian Don R. Forquer who was then chairman of the International Relations Committee. As the years progressed the financial arrangements have been shifted to the Teays Valley High School Student body. However the local Kiwanis Club is still vitally interested in the program and contributes heartily towards it each year.

Presently, there are two South American Students living with Ashville area families. Sergio Godinz from Mexico City is living with the David Bircher family and attends Walnut School. The Ralph Peters family is hosting Maria DelFrota of Sao Paulo, Brazil. Maria just arrived during the holidays and will attend Teays Valley High School. As a bonus for the year Gonzalo Hernandez is coming from Santiago, Chile to spend three months with the Ralph Stir family.

The entire exchange program is handled through International Fellowship of Buffalo. Mrs. Phoebe Engle serves as the local school coordinator.

Newsman Retires At Chillicothe

Nelson L. Kellenberger, general manager and vice president of the Chillicothe Gazette, retires Wednesday after 40 years in the newspaper business.

A native of Chillicothe, Kellenberger began selling classified advertising with the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette in May, 1929, when, as he recalled, "I was the classified department in those days."

He left Chillicothe at one period of his newspaper career to become advertising director for the Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Courier, a Sunday newspaper which was purchased along with the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette by Speidel Newspapers Inc.

He returned to his native town a week after Pearl Harbor as business manager of the Scioto Gazette and News Advertiser which later consolidated forming the present Chillicothe Gazette.

Kellenberger says he has no immediate plans for his retirement.

Consumer Faces Tougher Time In 1970

by JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer was bumped and buffeted by inflation during 1969 but survived remarkably well because he was able to hold his job, get pay raises, borrow freely except for housing, and dip into sizeable reserves.

The same may not be true in 1970. Joblessness is expected to increase. Pay raises may be more difficult to obtain and, with the threat of recession haunting him, the consumer may not be so willing to dip into savings.

The year 1970 is expected to be a transitional year, a year in which the economy is expected to slow down, a year in which the groundwork is laid for a more stable economy during much of the "heavenly 70s."

The big question is how intense the slowdown will be. Washington officials want to bring spending and production into line, but in doing so they confess that the slowdown could develop into a recession.

Some economists, in fact, insist that we already are in a recession. Reading the same figures, other economists say the fear is groundless, that "there ain't going to be no recession."

As far as most consumers are concerned, the issue is one of semantics anyway. For him, the strength of his own economy is foremost in his mind, and here are some of the factors involved:

— Jobs. As 1969 drew to a close the jobless rate was 3.4 per cent of the civilian labor force. This is expected to rise above 4 per cent as the economy cools. In fact, some analysts foresee a 4.5 per cent rate, which would make it the highest since 1965.

— Prices. The charge for consumer goods and services rose about 5.5 per cent during 1969, and prospects are that another big increase is in store for 1970, maybe on the order of 4 per cent or so.

— Income. Although pay raises should be more difficult to obtain under new contracts, those wage agreements reached in 1969 and which cover 1970 as well as going to mean hefty increases for some. The Bureau of National Affairs reports that the median wage increase falling due in 1970 under contracts now in force is 17.1 cents an hour, highest in at least 13 years.

— Taxes. The surtax will drop to 5 per cent from 10 per cent. There will be a slight increase in the personal exemption on income taxes from $600 per person to $650 on July 1. Local taxes, especially for real estate, are expected to continue climbing. Same for sales taxes.

— Savings. If the consumer curbs his spending, as expected, he might actually put more money in the bank than he did in 1969, despite the anticipated economic slowdown.

In 1969 the consumer began cutting deeply into his savings to maintain his standard of living. In the first nine months of the year, for example, he put $8 billion into savings accounts, down 60 per cent from 1968.

— Interest rates. They reached century-high levels during 1969 and are expected to remain high through much of 1970. If rates do fall, it is unlikely that they will begin doing so before midyear.

— Housing. The prices of conventional mortgages rose during the year from 7 per cent to more than 8 per cent. And as they did, the number of housing starts plummeted from a rate of 1.9 million units to less than 1.3 million.
